Find the words from the text boxes above in the story below. Some words appear more than once. Underline the words you find.

Do you like roses? Anne likes roses. Her mother has a rose garden. Her roses win prizes at the flower show. They are very pretty.

"Eat your banana," Anne's mother told her one day. Anne hated bananas. This banana was brown. Brown bananas are the worst. Anne went outside. She didn't go very far, just to her mother's rose garden. What did she see? A runaway sheep, eating her mother's roses!

"Hello," Anne said to the sheep. "Would you like a good banana?" The sheep ate her banana. This made Anne happy. Anne went to the house for another banana. The sheep followed her.

"Anne, don't bring sheep into the house," her mother said.

"He was eating your roses," Anne said. "The red ones are his favorite."

"I will call the farmer," her mother said. The farmer came for his sheep. The lady next door saw it. She was a reporter.

"I am going to write a story for the newspaper," she said. She took Anne's picture. "How did you catch the sheep?" she asked Anne.

"First, I gave him a banana. Then he was my friend."

The lady wrote the story. She took Anne's picture with the sheep. "I will call the story Girl Catches Runaway Sheep," she said.
