Labor Day

Labor Day is a legal holiday. It is a day that honors everyone who works. Because almost everyone in America works, this day honors most of the people in our country.

Banks and government offices are closed on Labor Day. Most businesses are closed too. If the school year has started, school will be closed on Labor Day.

Labor Day is celebrated in many ways. Some people go to parades. Others go to hear speakers talk about ways for workers to have better lives. Some people spend the day visiting friends. Many people go on picnics. And some people just rest.

Labor Day is celebrated on the first Monday in September. Most people think of Labor Day as the last day of summer. Vacation time is over. Work and school will soon begin again. It is a day to look ahead to the things you will do.
