

Basic Parts of a Plant  A diagram of a plant with a central stem, leaves, a flower, buds, and roots. Arrows point to each part with labels: 'flower' (pointing to a five-petaled flower), 'stem' (pointing to the main vertical stem), 'leaf' (pointing to a single leaf), 'bud' (pointing to a small rounded structure), and 'root' (pointing to the root system below ground).	flower  A diagram of a plant with a central stem, leaves, a flower, buds, and roots. An arrow points to the flower with the label 'flower'.
bud  A diagram of a plant with a central stem, leaves, a flower, buds, and roots. An arrow points to a bud with the label 'bud'.	leaf  A diagram of a plant with a central stem, leaves, a flower, buds, and roots. An arrow points to a leaf with the label 'leaf'.
stem  A diagram of a plant with a central stem, leaves, a flower, buds, and roots. An arrow points to the stem with the label 'stem'.	root  A diagram of a plant with a central stem, leaves, a flower, buds, and roots. An arrow points to the root system with the label 'root'.