

REMEMBER THE RAINBOW

Rainbows appear in the following colors: red, orange, yellow, green, blue, indigo, violet. To make this order easier to remember, people have invented many mnemonic devices such as the name, “Roy G. Biv,” which is composed of the first letters of each color, or sentences like “Richard of York gave battle in vain,” where the first letters of each word match the first letters of the colors. Can you invent your own mnemonic devices for the order of the colors of the rainbow? Try to make some in the chart below.
